About Bhubaneswar - Bhubaneswar, the capital city of Odisha, is a vibrant blend of ancient heritage and modern urban charm. Known as the Temple City of India, it boasts a glorious legacy of over 2,000 years, reflected in its majestic temples like Lingaraj, Mukteswar, and Rajarani, which showcase the finest Kalinga architecture. As one of the first planned cities of independent India, designed by Otto Königsberger, Bhubaneswar today is a thriving hub of education, culture, IT, and research. It forms the “Golden Triangle” of Odisha tourism along with Puri and Konark, attracting scholars, tourists, and spiritual seekers from around the globe. The city also houses world-class institutions like Utkal University, Kalinga Institute of Social Sciences (KISS) and KIIT University, promoting inclusive education and innovation. With its lush green surroundings, rich tribal heritage, traditional crafts, and delectable Odisha cuisine, Bhubaneswar offers a unique and enriching experience to every visitor. Whether you seek intellectual engagement or cultural exploration, Bhubaneswar warmly welcomes you with its timeless spirit and progressive outlook.

About Kalinga Institute of Social Sciences (KISS)– Kalinga Institute of Social Sciences (KISS), located in Bhubaneswar, Odisha, is the world's largest residential educational institution, dedicated exclusively to tribal students. Established in 1993 by noted philanthropist and educationist, Professor (Dr.) Achyuta Samanta, KISS provides holistic education from kindergarten to postgraduate research—completely free of cost. It offers not only academic learning but also free lodging, nutrition, healthcare, vocational training, and sports facilities to over 40,000 indigenous students. Recognized by the United Nations for its extraordinary social impact, KISS has emerged as a global model for inclusive and sustainable development. In 2022, KISS received the prestigious UNESCO King Sejong Literacy Prize. It has also been granted Special Consultative Status by the UN ECOSOC. In 2023, KISS was honoured with International Green Grown Award. Blending modern education with cultural preservation, KISS Deemed to be University empowers generations of tribal youth and exemplifies how education can be a powerful means to eradicate poverty, promote equality, and build a just society. Recognized for its academic excellence, the University has been awarded an 'A' grade by NAAC.

How to Reach Bhubaneswar :

By Air: Biju Patnaik International Airport (BBI), located just 3 km from the city center, operates regular flights from Delhi, Mumbai, Kolkata, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Chennai, and other major cities. The airport is well-equipped with modern amenities and pre-paid taxi services.

By Train: Bhubaneswar Railway Station is a major junction on the East Coast Railway and is well-connected with superfast and express trains from all parts of India. Trains like Rajdhani Express, Duronto, and Shatabdi make travel convenient and comfortable.

By Road: The city is well linked by a network of national highways, especially NH-16. State-run and private buses, as well as taxis, are available from neighboring states like West Bengal, Andhra Pradesh, and Chhattisgarh.

Weather: Weather in Bhubaneswar in December remains cool and pleasant. It is the best time to visit. Temperature ranges from 16°C to 28°C.
